By applying to the competition, every participant gets responsible for the content of the submitted work. Participants allow the uploading of the videos, as well as trailers or frames of the work, to the dedicated website www.museumsinshort.eu and the related medias of every member of the Organising committee. The organization reserves the right to request to the shortlisted participants additional information for promotional purposes.

6. Awards

After the closure of applications, a commission formed by experts in the field of museums and multimedia will select the winner. The date and the complete program of the award ceremony will be communicated later and published on the website www.museumsinshort.eu.

The winner will also be invited to present his achievement at the annual Best in Heritage IMAGINES event – the global conference featuring award-winning museum, heritage and conservation projects – that is held at the end of each September, in Dubrovnik (Croatia). More info: www.thebestinheritage.com.

The commission may give special mentions related to sections.

All the participants will be part of an online archive managed by musil. Videos will also included in a platform managed by European Museum Academy and used as scientific and teaching documents in European museum studies programmes or similar.

An online platform will give to the public the opportunity to vote for the public's favourite short.

Participation in the competition implies full acceptance of these rules. Any variations or updates will be communicated on www.museumsinshort.eu.
